Youngsters Show Colors In Parade

Parade, prizes, pool and picnics was the order of the day on July 4 at Pembroke Meadows.

The kick-off for this marvelous day was a colorful parade that turned out to be five blocks long! Red, white and blue decorated everything that moved along the parade way. Children everywhere were decked out in original eye-poppin' costumes, as were wagons, carriages and bicycles equally aglow with patriotic colors.

Awards were presented to Jimmy Martin for his very unusual noise-maker; Grazyna Giddens, best decorated girl's bicycle; Tim Shields, best decorated boy's bike; Catherine Zilch, most patriotic costume; Jimmy Fralix, best decorated wagon and Tricia Shields, best decorated little girl's baby buggy.

Three of the most surprised men there were Fred Pearson, Charles Taylor and Howard Harris. They officially and unexpectedly christened the new pool just before the gates were opened to the members. Their co-workers took them by surprise and plunked them into the pool . . . fully clothed! With that, the pool was ready for the swim-set to take over properly attired.

And speaking of swim suits, the four Shields children accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Dan Shields, make a striking appearance in their look-alike swim outfits.

The fun-filled day ended with a family style picnic, dancing and a sing-along. Pembroke Meadows will long remember July 4, 1969

Helping Girls at Camp Akita

Aragona Women Become Ta Ya Tos

Through the efforts of Mrs. David Aiken of Aragona Village, Camp Akita is a busy place for more than 150 Camp Fire Girls in the Virginia Beach area.

Mrs. Aiken, camp director and registered nurse, assisted by Mrs. W.J. Boland, camp secretary, also of Aragona, are serving as counselors during this summer activity program.

Camp Akita located in the Oceana area is in full session Monday thru Friday from 9:30 p.m.

Parents drive their Bluebirds (7 and 8 year olds), New Camp Fire Girls (9 through 11 years of age), and Camp Fire Girls (12 and 13 years old) to the camp where they participate in a diversified group of classes. Each girl receives instructions necessary for earning the faggot finder emblem and, at the same time, each camper will earn a number of honor beads in various crafts.

The theme of the summer program is built around Indian Lore. Each unit has an Indian name, as does each Ta-Ya-To (counselor).

The Bluebirds are busy with nature study, painting, murals, lacing, and beadwork, while the Camp Fire Girls learn to use a knife, various ways to make a fire, cook out, charcoal sketching, sports and singing. The Camp Fire girls also have one overnight stay at the camp.

Each camper brings her own lunch and is provided with free juice through the kindness of a local dairy.

The counselors are working hard for the girls fun and enjoyment and deserve a great deal of praise for the time they are giving this summer.

The women assisting are Mrs. Nancy De Vuyst, assistant director; Mrs. I. Craft, camp crafts, Mrs. T. Lambert, cooking, Mrs. T. Wolff, sports and and games; Mrs. A. Lochner, music and sports, Mrs. C. Johnson, Indian lore and art, Mrs. W.J. Boland, art and field sketching; Mrs. D. Fox, fire making; Mrs. C. Tomaro, nature crafts, Mrs. V. Brown, lacing; Mrs. D. Davis, Mrs. H. Dukelow and Mrs. P. Weaver, arts and crafts.

Planning Saves

Homemakers Time

By INGRID TIFENBERG

Homemakers have many demands on their time resulting from: (1) increased responsibilities to their families and communities; (2) changes in homemaking standards; (3) fewer persons to assist with homemaking; and (4) employment outside the home. Still another factor is summertime; especially August-vacation month. No one likes to get stuck with housework when there are so many other more pleasant things to do.

Are you interested in making your housework easier? These six work simplification principles, if applied to daily tasks, save both time and energy.

1. Keep Everything Within Easy Reach

Store equipment, utensils, and supplies at or near where you will use them. Store flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, etc. at the mixing area; supplies for dishwashing at the sink; long fork, tongs, cake turner, measuring spoons near stove; trays at the serving area; bed linens near bedrooms; and bath towels in or near the bath.

MEETINGS SET

The Aragona Civic League will meet at the Aragona "Rec" Center on the third Monday of each month starting August 18.

Temporary president Robert Kingsbury urges all Aragona residents to please be present at 8:00 p.m. on August 18 when a complete slate of officers will be nominated and elected. Due to inclement weather the league was unable to do this as scheduled in July.

Mayor, Other Officials Help Open Pool

The rain clouds passed over and a beautiful sunshine sky stayed for the ribbon cutting ceremonies of Pembroke Meadows Recreation Center pool, July 3.

Civic League President C.C. Taylor was in charge of the program. Navy Chaplain Harry Miller gave the opening prayer.

Individuals, non-residents of Pembroke Meadows who aided the group in their efforts were thanked and recognized. They were John E. Gibbs and Robert R. Lohrer, city building inspectors; Ray Tolerton, of the First Colonial Bank who advised in the development of finances; Tom Morrisette of Dudley, Morrisette, Cederquist and Associates, architects for the pool complex; Joseph Schertle of National Pools, who constructed the pool; civic protectors represented by Police Capt. Harry C. Terry and Lt. Al E. Smith from the Bayside precinct; Fire Chief W.A. Garrett from Davis Corner and Fire Chief Thomas Ray of Thalia.

The principals of the Terry Corp., who supported the pool project from its conception are Fred Napolitano, Horace Cistola, Emil Oliveri and Louis Lucente.

Cistola spoke for the group, saying he had been associated with many civic leagues in the past but has never been so proud of a group of people as those at Pembroke Meadows.

Special notice was given to Fred Pearson, director and chief officer of the rec center, whose efforts produced the management system for running the center; to Howard Harris, a member of the Board of Governors, who tirelessly cajoled his co-workers into greater and greater efforts to collect the necessary funds to complete the pool, and to Donald Dreelin, also on the Board of Governors, who had the necessary talents and drive to complete the construction.

Honored guests from the city were Bayside Councilman Larry Marshall, and City Parks and Recreation Director Harold Whitehurst. Each congratulated the people on their outstanding efforts.

Mayor Frank A. Dusch said, "this is a great honor to participate in the community spirit of Pembroke Meadows. It makes me proud to be mayor and see people pulling together for a job well done."

With this, the mayor officially opened the pool, with Jennifer McLaughlon (the "little mermaid", as the mayor called her) holding the other side of the ribbon.

Planning

2. Use Best Equipment and Tools for the Job

Be critical of your tools and equipment. Are they suited to do the job? Are they the best kind you can afford? Quality of tools is more important than quantity in tools.

Use wheels for transportation — for carrying food, dishes, glass, and silver to and from the table; for hanging out and bringing in the wash; for carrying cleaning supplies and tools from room to room.

3. Work in a Comfortable Position

Keep a good posture when standing or sitting to work. Bend at the knee when stooping rather than at the waist. A good posture at work helps prevent that tired feeling. Sit to work whenever you can.

4. Combine Jobs or Parts of a Job

Complete making one side of a bed before going around to finish other side, thus eliminating steps and time.

5. Leave Out Parts of a Job

Air-dry dishes; omit ironing sheets, bath towels, and tea towels.

6. Use Both Hands

Use both hands for dusting, washing windows, putting away dishes, and setting the table. Smooth, continuous motions of both hands are preferable to zig-zag motions. Jerky motions tire you and use more time. Plan for an easy flow of work for every day jobs such as washing dishes from right to left.

Use these six work simplification principles in determining the quicker, better, and easier method of doing your work.

In planning your work be guided by convenience, not convention.

Green Thumb Winners To Be Told August 12

The Green Thumb Contest for Pembroke Meadows was held July 12. Judges, E. L. Easter, former Extension Agent of Agriculture and Mrs. Barbara Harrison of Harrison's Nursery spent the morning viewing each and every street in the community. Mrs. Charles Meads of the Pembroke Manor Garden Club was unable to participate due to illness.

The front yards were judged on the following basis: general appearance and condition of lawn; all over trim of shrubbery and lawn; general color of shrubbery and flowers to coordinate with house; excellence of design and originality of overall plans and design, including the general grouping of flowers and shrubs and their relation to the front yard.

The three winners will be announced at the Pembroke Meadows Civic League meeting, 8:00 p.m., Aug. 12. A representative from the Terry Corporation will be present to make the awards.

Mrs. Harrison said she was greatly impressed by the efforts made in the area.

She said that a year ago there were only a dozen homes that had been landscaped in the first section and that the roads there hadn't been paved. She said she thoroughly enjoyed being one of the judges and looks forward to helping again next year.

Easter's comments were much like Mrs. Harrison's. He felt that the progress shown is a rewarding part of the homeowners interest and that by next year each and every home will be up for awards.
